Family documents from WWII

Isi and Lilly were Holocaust survivors who rescued Jewish children and worked with the Resistance.

Cover image: Baruch Brenig, Lilly's father, labor camp and deportation records.

During the Holocaust 6 million Jews were murdered of whom 1.5 million were children.

The Eichmann List presented at the Wannsee conference on January 20, 1942, listed the number of Jews to be annihilated by country: 11 million in total. This list provided the logistical basis for setting up deportation centers, labor camps and extermination camps in Europe.

In the earlier extermination phase, as they marched towards the Soviet Union, the Germans had already massacred up to 1.25 million Jews, often shooting them and burying them alive in mass graves. This was documented by French Catholic priest Father Desbois in The Holocaust by Bullets and at Yahadinunum.org.

Following the Wannsee Conference, the Nazis implemented the Final Solution on a massive scale. They documented in great detail deportations to the extermination camps as well as inmates' activities and movements in the numerous labor camps.

DOCUMENTS FROM ISI LEUWENKROON AND LILLY BRENIG'S FAMILY DURING WWII

On May 10 1940, the Germans invaded Belgium. In the spring of 1941, they started to implement the racial laws requiring all Jews to register. Those who did not risked deportation and death.

Thousands of deportation trains crisscrossed Europe between the autumn of 1942 until the spring of 1945. Albert, together with some 200 other inmates, jumped from transport XVI on the way to Auschwitz. This was an exceptionally rare escape.

ARMED RESISTANCE

After Albert Lewenkron jumped from the train, he joined the armed resistance in Liege, Belgium.

DEATH MARCH TO LABOR CAMP BUCHENWALD

Benjamin Lewenkron (Isi's uncle) survived the Auschwitz labor camp, where he had arrived in October 1942. He also survived the Death March from Auschwitz to Buchenwald, where he arrived on January 26, 1945. When the Germans realized that they were defeated, they planned to destroy all traces of Auschwitz, in Poland. The surviving inmates were forced to walk for 10 to 15 days, in freezing cold weather, to labor camps in Germany. That Death March, the largest of several, involved 56,000 starving prisoners, 15,000 of whom died along the way.

When they arrived in Buchenwald, prisoners received new registration numbers. They were classified by the type of labor they could perform and were assigned to labor blocks accordingly.

REFUGEE CAMPS

At the end of WWII millions of people ended up in refugee camps (DP Displaced People camps) for months, sometimes years, until they could be resettled. Most surviving Jews had no place to go and were often met with hostility when they returned to their home country.

Benjamin Lewenkron ended up in a refugee camp. His daughter Regina Lewenkron emigrated to Israel in 1947 aboard the Exodus ship whose passengers were sent back to Germany.

Arthur Donny Strosberg, husband of Eliane Strosberg (daughter of Lilly and Isi), was born on March 2, 1945, 'stateless' (apatride) in a refugee camp in Switzerland. Alexander Strosberg, his brother, was born earlier in the same camp and died there without a trace of his birth or death.

Rapport d'une enquête faite le 9 janvier 1957 par Monsieur DUMONCEAU de BERGENDAL à Grivegnée, 52, rue Bonne Femme.

Objet : LEWENKRON Albert, né à Nancy le 14.6.1924.

Suite à une demande du Service "Documentation" j'ai interrogé le susnommé pour connaître le sort qui lui fut réservé pendant la guerre 40-45.

Monsieur LEWENKRON n'était pas à son domicile mais je pur le toucher par téléphone à son bureau; il m'a déclaré avoir été arrêté à Liège le 1 août 1942 et envoyé dans le camp de Dammes-Camier dans le Nord de la France.

Le 31.10.1942, il fut amené à Malines pour y être incorporé au XVIme convoi en direction d'Auschwitz; le Ier novembre 1942, il put heureusement sauter du train lorsque celui-ci était près de Tirlemont et rejoindre Liège en train.

Il fut requeilli à l'Eveché de Liège où il se cacha quelquee mois. Il s'est engagé ensuite dans les rangs de l'armée de la libération; il prit le maquis à Wandre et Beyne-Heusay jusqu'à la libération du pays.

Il a été reconnu Résistant Armé le 15.12.1948.

REFUGEE CAMPS

At the end of WWII millions of people ended up in refugee camps (DP Displaced People camps) for months, sometimes years, until they could be resettled. Most surviving Jews had no place to go and were often met with hostility when they returned to their home country.

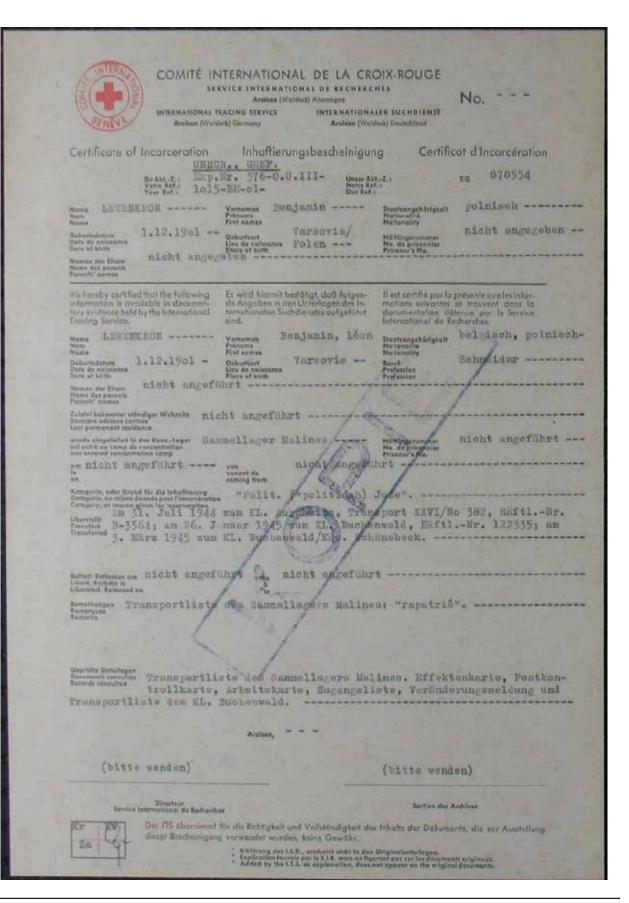

Benjamin Lewenkron ended up in a refugee camp.

Regina Lewenkron (November 3, 1930 Belgium-April 9, 2019 Israel). Regina Lewenkron's name appears as Razin-Lowenkron on p. 13 of the list of passengers on board the Exodus 1947. www.ushmm.org

Exodus 1947.

Arthur Donny Strosberg, husband of Eliane Strosberg (daughter of Lilly and Isi) was born 'stateless' (apatride) in a refugee camp in Switzerland on March 2, 1945.

Alexander Strosberg, Donny's brother born earlier in the same camp, died there without a trace of his birth nor of his death.

DOCUMENTS: Isi Leuwenkroon and Lilly Brenig's family during WWII.
